

surround sound systems

Imagine settling into your recliner as you hear crickets chirp from every corner, bringing back memories of camping by a pristine lake. Sense the roar of motorcycles build, then scream behind you, or become part of the beat of your favorite song as the bass thumps in your chest like never before. Surround systems today immerse listeners in their sound, lifting audio pleasure to new levels.

Getting the sound right is not a simple process. To acquire the ultimate sound system, a sound storage system needs to be designed, calculated and determined as to the listening styles of all users. This ensures the acoustic characteristics of each unique entertainment arena.

At Marchand Technologies, our accomplished system integrators meticulously approach each project to consistently produce superior systems by optimizing equipment, space and budget. We take the time to guide our clients through the complex and often overwhelming array of options to determine the ideal arrangement for them.

Some factors to attaining superior sound:

- Dimensions of the entertainment arena
- Listening styles of the users
- Compatibility of new and existing equipment
- Internet and wireless options
- File storage capabilities
- Equipment matching
- Speaker placement
- Room acoustics
- Overall budget

Marchand Technologies is full-service. We not only engineer the best systems, but perform the installation as well – mounting speakers, installing acoustic panels and running wires. Our team consists of experts in acoustics, computer science, interior design, and construction so we can make certain you achieve the outcome that you desire.

Contact us today to see how an investment in an expertly-engineered surround sound system installed by Marchand Technologies can allow you to experience the sensation of three-dimensional audio in true surround sound.
